Senior Week-End Set for Dec. 6-7

Beddow Appoints Mark Stoudt
Senior Ball Chairman;
Deen Is Play Head

COMMITTEEMEN ANNOUNCED

Following last year's example, the senior class will again hold its dance and play in December. The week-end selected at a meeting last week is Friday and Saturday, December 6 and 7.

Formerly the affairs were scheduled for May, but it is believed that the present plan will work out better financially and socially since the two major dances of the year will not come within six weeks of each other as before. The ball will be held on Friday evening, with the play following on Saturday.

Thomas J. Beddow, president of the senior class, has selected Mark Stoudt chairman of the committee to make arrangements for the senior ball. Other members include Virginia Garrett, Jessie Wilson, Mildred Peterman, Helen Laubenstein, Alma Ludwig, Arnold Wynne, Fuller Grenawalt, Lachman Rinehart, and Clifford Calvert.

Robert Deen will act as chairman of the play committee. His co-workers are Elizabeth Krusen, Emma Kirkpatrick and Robert Brandaur.

VARSITY CLUB RECOMMENDS

STANDARD ATHLETIC AWARDS

Organization May Buy Sweaters for Letter Earners

The Varsity Club went on record at a regular meeting in Bomberger last Wednesday evening as favoring a system of standardized letters for the four major sports and a similar plan for all minor sports.

This action of the club followed a heated discussion in a meeting last spring when the question of granting one standard letter for all sports was before the organization. The present plan is considered as a compromise between the two conflicting views. The Club's stand will be granted according to the plan now in operation. In all other sports a five-inch block "U" shall be granted without initials designating in which sport the letter was earned; sweaters shall be granted by the Council only by purchase as at present.

Following the formal approval of the recommendation, the suggestion was made that the Varsity Club should provide funds for the purchase of sweaters for those juniors and seniors who are unable to do so.

This plan would replace the present system, whereby letter earners may buy a sweater, the price of which will be refunded to the purchaser if he participates in that certain sport during his senior year. The funds necessary to the operation of the suggested plan would be taken from the current income of the Club.

Along with this suggestion went that of dispensing with dues, the expenses of the annual banquet to be paid also from the current income, and deficit incurred in that affair to be covered by assessment among members of the Club.

No official action was taken on either of the above suggestions. A committee will be appointed in the near future to consider the advisability of adopting the plans. A report will be made at the next Club meeting.

DR. PRICE TO DELIVER TALK

Among those on the program of the four-day session of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, in Harrisburg this week, is Dr. John B. Price '05, College Physician. Dr. Price, who is a prominent Norristown specialist, will present a paper on "Remote Symptoms in Upper Respiratory Infections" before the section on eye, ear, nose and throat diseases.

BETA SIGMA LAMBDA IS FIRST WINNER OF INTER-FRAT SCHOLASTIC PLAQUE

Reports from Dean W. A. Kline's office late last week show that the Beta Sigma Lambda social fraternity stands first in scholastic rating for the second semester of the 1934-35 school year, and will receive the plaque provided by the Inter-fraternity Council for the winner each half year.

Sigma Rho Lambda followed the winners by one point, while Zeta Chi stood third by the same narrow margin. Demas and Alpha Pi Epsilon finished in the order named, each trailing its predecessor by one and one half points.

Although no exact averages were available, it was indicated that "B" was the average grade of the winners. Competition was keen and close, with but six points separating the victors from the fraternity in last place.

The plaque, which was offered by the Inter-fraternity Council, is to be presented, at the end of each semester, to the fraternity attaining the highest scholastic average during that semester. If any fraternity shall win the award three successive semesters, it shall become the permanent property of that group. This is the first time it has been awarded.

Presentation ceremonies will take place at a regular meeting of the Inter-fraternity Council this week. Herman Bassman '36, president of Beta Sigma Lambda, will receive the award for his organization from Leon Trumbore '36, president of the Council.

Each organization shall have its name engraved on a plate on the plaque for each time it shall emerge at the top of the list.

Sheeder Shows Results Of Seven-Year Survey

Registrar to Present Report at Faculty Meeting

DISCONTINUANCES DECREASE

Prof. Franklin I. Sheeder, college registrar, has released the results of a survey he has conducted during a seven year period, 1928 to 1934, of the academic history of secondary school students admitted to Ursinus by examination. This report, together with a series of recommendations regarding future policy of the college, will be presented to the faculty at its October meeting.

In an effort to reduce the number of students discontinued from college because of unsatisfactory scholastic records, the faculty, in 1928, voted to administer a group of tests to all entering students. For those graduates of high schools who ranked in the higher two-thirds of their classes, these examinations were to serve placement and guidance purposes, but for those whose records were lower these examinations were to determine their entrance qualifications. These same tests, with slight change, have been given yearly since 1928. During the three years previous to the institution of the entrance examinations, the average percentage of students discontinued by faculty action was approximately four percent; in the five years following, this percent-

Rev. Alfred Sayres to Address Joint Y. M.-Y. W. Meet, Wed.

Rev Alfred N. "Tubby" Sayres, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, at Lansdale, will speak to the Y. M.-Y. W. C. A., on Wednesday evening at 6:45 p. m. in Bomberger Hall. "The Torch and the Dawn," a subject directed at the students of today, will be the title of his address. Rev. Sayres has a wide reputation for his leadership activities within the church and at summer camps. William Solly '36, who was instrumental in securing the speaker, will lead the devotionals.

Previous to the regular meeting, the freshman men will be called together by Theodore Boysen, Jr. '36, to submit topics which they would like to have used for the freshman discussion groups. In past years these groups have been conducted by interested faculty members during the first semester.

SCAVENGER HUNT PLANNED FOR W. A. A. MEET TONIGHT

This evening in the gym at 7:45, the W. A. A. will open its initial meeting of the year with a "scavenger hunt," followed by an entertainment and refreshments.

The committee in charge of the evening is headed by Sylvia Erdman '37, assisted by Ruth Rothenberger '36, Lillian Lucia '37, and Mary Bishop '38.

W.S.G.A. to Sponsor Leadership Training

Camp Fire Organization Backs
The Project

NO CHARGE IS TO BE MADE

The Camp Fire Girls' organization of Reading, Pennsylvania, is offering to the girls of Ursinus a course in leadership training. The course will present subjects in which the students will learn more about the adolescent girl, and will also secure suggestions and ideas as to new and varied activities which can be used in schools.

The course will cover subjects such as social leadership, citizenship, program planning, handicraft, fire building, outdoor cooking, care of the home and various other subjects.

The training is valuable, not only to those students who are interested in social work of this type, including Y. W. C. A., Girl Reserves, and Girl Scouts, but also to those who are planning to teach.

There will be no charge for the course except for materials, which will be used in order to make articles. It will be a two-hour course, held once every week. No definite hours have been arranged for the course at present, which is to be sponsored by the Women's Student Government.

Frosh Squad Becomes Smaller As Daily Practices Continue

Gaff of five years ago published these:

"And then there's the inexperienced frosh who bids good night to his girl friend at Freeland gate."

"Apropos of the radio discussion, it is the consensus of opinion that a permit should be necessary for the privilege of studying instead of vice versa."

Going into their second week of practice, the number of frosh football candidates has been decreased to twenty-five, one of the smallest squads at Ursinus in recent years.

Don Kellett got his first look at the prospective gridders in competition when they went through a stiff practice scrimmage with the varsity squad, Wednesday afternoon. Although the number is un-

SHALL TRADITION STAND?

"Pride goeth before a fall" is the lesson humbly learned by the last three presidents of the freshman classes. Their successive departures constitute a phenomenon so unique as to be nearly traditional at Ursinus. Know ye well, then, whichever one of you (we shall not mention names) succeeds to the exalted chair, that even if the sophies don't hasten your departure on your banquet night, there is still danger in a proud spirit. For the sword of Damocles (or is it the Dean's?) hangs low, and may fall again.

NOTICE, ORGANIZATIONS!

All organizations which desire dates set aside for them on the social calendar, either for regular meetings or special events, must make their requests on or before Monday, October 17.

The social calendar is in the process of formation and will include only those meeting times and dates granted by the Council on Student Activities. Requests may be handed to Professor Brownback or Thomas Glassmoyer.

McAvoymen Prepare For Bisons, Friday

Bucknell to Present Veteran Backfield, Green Line

COSTELLO IS ON INJURED LIST

By comparative scores, Jack McAvoy's Grizzlies should be several points better than Bucknell when they appear under the lights against the Bisons, Friday night, at Lewisburg.

Harry Stuhldreher's Wildcats trimmed the P. M. C. eleven to the tune of 41-0; the Bears did ten points better against the 'Cats. Last Friday night the Bisons triumphed over the military college by the close score of 7-0. Accordingly, the Bears should be three points better than their hosts Friday night, all of which may or may not mean anything.

Although the Bears yielded to the 'Cats, 31-0, every paper yesterday gave them credit for putting up a hard, stubborn battle, making it a closer tussle than the score indicates, especially in the first half. Art West, writing for the Philadelphia Record, says "... the badly outweighed Bears surprised their supporters by the manner in which they held their own with the Wildcats."

After the battle "Pete" Stevens was cheerful and optimistic in spite of the stinging defeat. He was pleased with the showing the Bears had made, saying they had played a fine, "bang-up" game.

Ray Costello was the only Ursinus player to suffer any serious injury in Saturday's game, being forced to the bench shortly before the end of the first half with a thigh injury. He will probably not appear in the lineup Friday night. Several other regulars who have been on the injured list will probably be back in togs for the opening whistle of the tussle with the Bisons.

When the Grizzlies tackle the Bucknell team, they will face a machine handicapped by lack of seasoned line material, but offering an imposing array of good backs, headed by the four veterans, Sitarsky, Smith, Miller, and Raymaley. Ready replacements in the backfield will consist of Bowson, Colson, and Pfeiffer.

In the line Bob Pethick will hold down the center position, with Dobie and Green flanking him at guard. Tackle posts seem weak, with Pocins tentatively holding down the one side while Rosati, Dickens, and Conti compete for the other. Wilkinson and Filer, last year's regulars, will fill out the line as wingmen.

Schmitt New Debate Manager; Conference Delegate Elected

At a meeting of the Webster Forensic Club today at noon, Elmer W. J. Schmitt '36, was elected manager of the Club to succeed Harold Holcombe '36, who resigned.

On account of Professor Carter's absence while completing his graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, Dr. James Boswell was chosen by the Club to act as Coach.

Charles Wallick '38, was elected to represent the men's debating teams at a conference in Harrisburg, Saturday, at which time current subjects for debate will be selected. Dr. E. B. White will represent the Women's Debating Club at the same conference.

Villanova Trims Fighting Grizzlies

Raimo Crosses Line Three Times
As the Bears Are Subdued, 31-0

BASSMAN AND BRADFORD STAR

An outweighed and outsmarted Ursinus eleven went down in defeat to the Villanova Wildcats Saturday afternoon, 31-0. The 5000 fans who came prepared for rain sat under overcast but dry skies to watch the powerful 'Cats deceive the Bears from the very beginning.

Jack McAvoy's Grizzlies got off to a poor start as Raimo, who scored three of the five touchdowns, got away for 15 yards on the fourth play of the game to cross the broad stripe, standing up. After this let up in the first few minutes, the Bears did not bow down until the next period when Raimo again scored, this time on a reverse, racing 66 yards behind perfect interference.

After the 'Cats scored their third six pointer in the early part of the second half, Stuhldreher, exponent of the Rockne system, sent in fresh substitutes. Meanwhile, the Grizzlies, playing a scrappy but losing battle, were weakening and proved no match for the end runs and aerial attacks of the Villanova recruits. Another tally in the same quarter and a fifth in the last, both via the air route, ended the scoring for the day and the game ended with the ball in midfield.

Villanova's only point after touchdown came after the first tally, the others either being blocked or too wide.

Ursinus' best showing was in the last half of the first and beginning of the second quarters. Bassman received after the first counter and raced the ball from his own 10-yard line to the 30, stumbling before he was tackled. A line-buck failed and Calvert punted to Villanova's forty. An end run looked like the beginning of another touchdown but on the next play an intercepted forward and Calvert's punt put the ball out of danger. Two fifteen yard penalties gave the Bears the break they needed and the 'Cats were never close to a touchdown until Raimo's mad gallop.

Toward the close of the second quarter, Rinehart nabbed a Villanova pass to bring the Ursinus rooters off their seats. Dresch darted on a seemingly right end lateral to Calvert, who faded back and tossed a beautiful pass to Tworzydlo, as the substitute end broke between two Villanova backs. However, Costello fumbled shortly afterwards and the Bears never invaded the 'Cats side of the field during the rest of the contest.

Seven seniors started the game for Ursinus, facing Villanova for their fourth time, and three other senior subs also got into action. Bassman again played his usual

HOPE AMID THE CRISIS

Ursinus, in common with other liberal arts colleges, has been torn, ever since the close of the war, by the demands of two diverging educational philosophies. Each philosophy has its particular group of adherents among the faculty. Ranged on the one side are those who firmly believe in a strictly liberal arts education, a type of education whose pursuit is unmarred by any ulterior aim of gaining material advantage. On the other hand are those, who, without disregarding the value of liberal training, realize that students must have an education that will prepare them to step into a vocation immediately upon graduation. It is not because students do not want a liberal education; it is that they simply cannot afford it. Pure liberal arts colleges can flourish only where there is a definite leisure class in society, an institution not readily found in America.

If we were to choose between the two types, we would favor the liberal education, but whether that philosophy will be dominant in the College ten years from now, will be dictated in the main by circumstances. It is encouraging, however, to note that in the last five years the entrance requirements have been raised, thus moderating to some extent whatever ill effects might have attended the advent of a vocational philosophy of education. Further illuminating facts about entrance requirements may be gained by a careful reading of the recent study completed by the college registrar.

THAT MODEL CLASS CHARTER

With the organization of the freshman class about to be effected, it would be a timely move if the Men's Student Council presented for adoption the model class constitution which its committee codified last spring. It should be self-evident that this constitution, if wisely formulated and rigorously adhered to, would go far in preventing that disorderly and irresponsible procedure so common to class meetings.

The manner in which this constitution was drawn up calls for observations of lesser importance. First, it would seem that the Men's Student Council had acted as through the freshman class were wholly male and totally under its jurisdiction. Is its co-equal, the Women's Student Government, not worthy of regard and consideration in matters affecting both sexes? Secondly, blamable though the men may be, doubly so must the women be for their quiescent attitude in the face of this trampling on their rights. If our pre-war decades had had no more moving spirits than are seen on this campus, we might reasonably wonder whether there would have been a Nineteenth Amendment. If the women of Ursinus uncomplainingly accept that provision which closes to them certain class offices, then, too, we may ask where there is to arise another Ruth Bryan Owen, or a Frances Perkins, let alone a woman president.

When ability exists, no matter where, let it be utilized in whatever station there is.

CHOOSE YE THIS DAY

The Scriptures speak of the straight and narrow as compared to the broad and winding, the one leading upward, the other downward to oblivion. Your college catalogue also preaches just such a sermon.

For each group a certain number of courses have been marked as compulsory, others are elective. Some must be taken by all students of all groups. These latter are the basis of a good education; they are considered as essential to understanding, to culture. They are the foundations upon which you must build.

Those courses prescribed for students in a particular group are the framework of your learning. Here, the building takes shape, specialization begins. If you would study medicine, courses must be pursued toward that end; if law or business, the same holds true.

Among the electives, one will find the completion of his specialization. Here the question arises, "Shall I specialize to the limit, or get a broad, general education?" The answer can be neither wholly one way or the other.

A broad general education is highly desirable. On the other hand, if one has a smattering of all fields and subjects, and yet is master of none, he is often hard pressed to find employment or to get into the professions. Keep in mind—and this applies especially to lower classmen—that the day in which you live is demanding experts in the different fields of work, and at the same time is calling for a well educated man or woman.

Steer a careful course between the Scylla of specialization and the Charybdis of non-specialization. Remember that the cultural side of your life is perhaps easier to acquire by your own efforts than is a technical knowledge in one certain field.

GRIZZLY GLEANINGS

It is the sincere wish of this column that it be understood at the outset that what follows is published, not in the spirit of detestable, maudlin meddlesomeness, but in a noble attitude of altruistic assistance in clearing up a misunderstanding which, if left to smolder and ferment in dark oblivion, would eventually result in dire catastrophe; it is for the good of all concerned, as it were.

The thorn beneath the flesh, so to speak, is in the person of the following epistle, received a few days ago and published now for the first time:

Dear Ersinus College:

We have heard rumors to the effect that the Sophomores at your institution have persecuted the Freshmen severely indeed, especially on Black Thursday. Now we do not want to hear any more of this kind of talk, or we shall be forced to take action in the matter. This will mean taking away your petting privileges, so be careful.

Signed,

The S. P. C. A.

After reading this letter, this column saw its duty plainly before it, i. e., to spike the venomous report, to expose the rumors as vicious slander, and to slay the serpent in its cradle. We therefore go forth to do battle. We are St. George reincarnated and we rush ahead to slay this monstrous dragon where'er he rears his ugly head.

It is a specimen of unthinkable gullibility. It is a gross libel. It is a never-to-be-erased splotch upon the fair escutcheon of Ersinus tradition. In fact, it is not the truth.

Any Ersinus student knows it is not the truth, but for the benefit of the world at large, this column produces the following indisputable evidence in proof of the falsity of said rumors:

1. Each student, upon registering at the college, signed a paper pledging refrainment from any and all hazing.

2. Each student was asked, on the evening of Black Thursday, to leave any and all tomatoes to the care of the Price family.

3. The after-lunch fiasco was merely a symbol of tacit acceptance of the current fad craze, the amateur hour. Incidentally, the talent was lousy.

4. The evening P-J promenade was enjoyed by all. Tea was served upon returning to the dormitories. The freshmen poured.

5. The receptions after the promenade in the various dormitories, especially the one in Derr, also went over with a bang.

We realize, however, that there may still exist in the vacuous cerebral regions of some dumbheads a question mark on the subject.

To them we proffer this final word: If you still think the freshmen were persecuted, manhandled, or panhandled, ask a freshman and know the truth.

(If he says yes, he's a liar. If he says no, tell a sophomore and the matter will be attended to.)

This concludes the argument.

This column now considers the matter closed.

Alas! Alack! Poor Clamer Hall, It seems like none of these guys will fall, But then, "mah deahs", here's just the thing, Why don't you pick yourselves a king?

The Best Guys

Glenwood—Tommy Tucker

Lynnewood—"Sieb"
Firecroft—Still a battle royal
Clamer—Alone in the world
Shreiner—Hooper Grenawalt

The "Valley Boys" seem to have a bad case of stiff elbows. It never occurred to them that they might raise their "red caps". Tip those dinks, frosh!

Little "Junior" is practising daily in order to make his debut on Founders' Day. Because of his song he has been dubbed "Old Joe Solitude." Here's a tip for you, auge.

Some place, this Temple; according to Peter Paul "the seats stayed there" during the Temple-Texas A. & M. game. Who would want the seats anyway, Pete?

Poor "T. P."—according to His Highness, the editor of the 1936 "Booby" is just a stooge.

Little Caesar seems to have that far-away look in his eyes, and that gaze is cast toward Lynnewood Hall. Looks like another P. P. (purely platonic) club is in formation. Vote Throne for president.

FROM OUR FILES

Victory!

With the football season crowding upon us, it might be well to encourage the team with a few facts as well as with cheers. Twenty-five years ago the Grizzly Bears astounded the sport world by defeating the mighty Penn eleven with a score of 8-5. And the best part of that victory was the fact that the foremost sports writers accredited Ursinus with having the better team! Moreover, this is the fifteenth anniversary of an Ursinus victory over Rutgers, with the score, 14-7.

Bear Facts

Do you know that it was just ten years ago that the American grizzly bear was adopted as the insignia of Ursinus athletics? While seeking a type of bear best suited to the name and habits of Ursinus, the committee, headed by Dr. Omwake, finally decided upon the "ursus horribilis", the American grizzly, because its methods of attack, defense, and fight were just those of the ideal Ursinus sportsman. And what is more, it is impossible to force the horrible Ursinus up a tree!

COLLEGIATE SPOTLIGHT

Harvard University is the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. The year 1936 will mark the 300th anniversary of its founding.

The following is the reasoning of a mathematics professor at Drexel:

1. A poor lesson is better than nothing.
2. Nothing is better than a good lesson.
3. Therefore, a poor lesson is better than a good lesson.

Evidently Franklin and Marshall is out to get us this year. After a write-up on the football team and the prospects for the year, the two words, "Beat Ursinus", appear in large letters, and this in spite of the fact that the important Fordham game was first on their schedule.

The following story comes from Haverford. After a week of dinks, ties, lapel-signs, etc., one freshman commented, "If Dad hadn't told me I was here for a higher education, I wouldn't have known what it was all about."

Haverford conducts a school for its janitors and colored friends whom they have recommended. The idea is to continue the education of the kitchen men and janitor and at the same time afford practical classroom experience to those students who intend to go into teaching.

Men who wear suits at University of South Carolina are labelled capitalists.

Upsala has seven former high school captains in its varsity lineup.

Lehigh and Princeton are given joint credit for originating the flying wedge in football.

RAMBLING at RANDOM

In the course of my experience, narrow as it has been, I have often come across people who had never been blessed with a nickname. For some reason, I am wont to pity such persons, for a nickname is a mark of an individuality that cannot be shown in any other way. For those persons who are thus handicapped, the surest remedy I have ever found is a few weeks in college. Long ago when I was of the age when I devoured novels of college life, I enjoyed none more than Owen Johnson's three books, "The Tennessee Shad," "The Prodigious Hickey," and "The Varmint," for the very reason that they contained names such as I had never heard of before.

But since coming to Ursinus, I have realized that Mr. Johnson's originality in that respect did not surpass the genius of many of my pals. For here, too, one can find names such as he has never heard of before—for example, where can one uncover the equal to such appellations as: "Butterball", "Apple-knocker", "The Shad", "The Goose", "The Spider", "The Ugly Duckling", "The Mongoose", "The Eagle", "The Browbeaten Beetle", "The Big Wig", "Poodle-Dog", and the rest of the menagerie, to say nothing of "Foo", "Schnosz", "Blizzard", "Barron", "Whip", "Snuffy", "K. K.", "Tee-pee", "Hymie", "German", "Little Caesar", "Butzy", "The Greek", "Boozie", "Twinkletoes", and "The Confederate". Even the fairer sex rates with such outstanding titles as "Little Jo" and "Betty Boop". A more diversified and original group one could not hope for.

I have often tried to figure out why, sometimes, words flow freely from the end of one's pen, while other times not even the deepest concentration can cause an interesting sentence to flit across one's brain. I am in the latter position now, and I am reminded of my days of years ago when I was in a similar position at least three times a week—the nights before my classes in Composition 1-2. The necessity for doing something usually makes a task twice as difficult as if it were being done under ordinary conditions. But with an editor dogging my heels, first ordering, then asking, and finally begging me to have something for him in the morning, all inspiration is bound to fly. That is the case with me now. As a further excuse, I might add that my roommate is to start in his first big game tomorrow, and I must put him to bed.

PLANS FOR GRIZZLY GRIDDER

ANNOUNCED BY GLASSMOYER

Reynolds Is Named Assistant Editor
Three Issues to Appear

Plans for the Grizzly Gridder and the Ruby have been started for the school year 1935-36 under the editorship of Thomas Glassmoyer '36. Nothing definite has been decided upon, but new ideas are circulating among the staff members of both publications and those which will be accepted will be announced in later issues of the Weekly.

In regard to the Grizzly Gridder, there will be three issues this year, one for each home football game. The printing contract has been signed and general composition will go to press shortly. Business Manager LeRoy Landis '36, has begun soliciting for advertisements.

There will be no radical changes in the Grizzly this year. It will follow the same general plan of previous years and will contain brief articles of gridiron interest, and photographs of individual players and of the Ursinus squad in action. The cover will assume its usual appearance with changes in design. The cost will be the same, fifteen cents to students on the eve of the game and twenty-five cents on the field during the game. It has been announced that Frank Reynolds '37, has been appointed assistant editor.

An attempt will be made to publish a Ruby that will strike a medium between the formality of the 1934 Ruby edited by Irvin Sutin '34, and the informality of the last yearbook with Harry Brian '35, as editor. A transition from last year's edition will be made, namely, that individual pictures of the sophomores and freshmen will appear in the Ruby. Leonard Caldwell '34, photographer, has started on fall sports pictures. Seniors and juniors had their individual sittings the past Wednesday, Thursday and today.

The business staff will begin shaping its plans early in order to prevent financial difficulties such as those experienced last year. John Brown '36, business manager, has mailed bills to all campus organizations for their space in the book and is offering a two percent discount if paid before November 15. Gordon Spangler '36, is head of the advertising department, George Mathews '36, head of the circulation department and John Throne '37, is the junior class representative to the business staff of the Ruby. The cost this year will be four dollars if paid before January 15, four and a half dollars after that date. The 1936 Ruby will be released in the spring preceding commencement activities.

age was nearly cut in half. The faculty, therefore, upon the basis of this progress voted to accept on certificate only those students standing in the upper half of their graduating classes, thus raising the standards of eligibility slightly higher.

Of the students taking the entrance examinations during the seven years, 101 have been admitted to the College. Eleven of those have already graduated, and 36 are still in school. Eighteen were discontinued by the faculty and 36 left on their own volition. More than a third of the latter number were doing satisfactory work at the time of their withdrawal. A totaling of the data reveals that approximately 60 percent of those admitted on examination are capable of doing college work, although rarely does any student attain a rank above the lower third. Among the students who withdrew from the College, the greatest number left by the end of the freshman year.

Prof. Sheeder has summarized his study with these points: (1) examinations supplemented by personal investigation and careful selection of students capable of College work, but who have not the necessary records for entrance by certificate; (2) the existence of a definite objective, such as admission to law, dental, or medical school, where scholastic records carry great weight, influences the student to do better work; (3) a very few students who fail to do satisfactory work at Ursinus are capable of doing well in other institutions.

THEY STOOP BUT CONQUER!

Once upon a Thursday, Good Queen Wieand hailed her worthy brood of minions about her, and leaving the battlements of turreted Clamer to recede into the darkness of the dank night, sallied forth to her former domicile. The inexperienced duchesses there met those Goodly Majesties, the Sophies of South Hall, Chief Inductors to the Ursinus courts. But alas! the Clamer wits proved too sharp, and the torturers became the tortured. What those fair lassies showed South! Now South is out to get its man, for Clamer demonstrated proposals cave-man style, crinoline style, modern style, and ultra-modern style, with its slot machine engagements. Looking to the future, fair maids? 1936 is leap year!

TWELVE STUDENTS TRY OUT FOR POSITIONS ON LANTERN

Approximately a dozen students have signified their intentions of trying for positions on "The Lantern" staff, either in the literary, art, or business departments. All candidates have been required to submit specimens of their writing or art work, or to prove their business abilities. Election to the staff will take place at an early meeting of the executive council.

Elizabeth McBride '36, the editor, announced today that contributions for the first issue are due on October 18. She particularly urged that essays and short stories be submitted by as many writers as possible. Acceptance of a manuscript does not necessitate position on the magazine's staff, but depends solely on the merit of the composition.

Y. W. SPONSORS BIG-LITTLE SISTER THEATRE PARTY, WED.

Last Wednesday evening the Y. W. C. A. sponsored a "big and little sister" theatre party to the Norris theatre in Norristown. Seventy-three girls were taken in by three large buses. The party saw "Les Miserables", Victor Hugo's famous novel, on the screen. Dr. White and Miss Stahr chaperoned the party. Delicious refreshments were served at Shreiner Hall at the end of the evening.

BAILEY AND HASHAGEN PLAN NEW DORM SPORTS' PROGRAM

Touch Football to Get Under Way Late This Week

The intramural program at Ursinus this year will be greatly enlarged under the supervision of Kenneth Hashagen and Everett Bailey, instructors in the Physical Education group.

More and varied kinds of competition will be offered in the shape of other sports than the ones now participated in, and by individual tournaments such as tennis, horse-shoe, and possibly golf.

Mr. Bailey and Mr. Hashagen will officiate at these contests if at all possible. The program which is now a permanent and growing feature at Ursinus, has been put under the Physical Education department so that more time and care may be given to its further development.

Trophies will again be awarded this year to the winning teams in the various sports, with a large award being given to the winner for the year, according to the point system used last year.

Six teams will compete in the various group sports, one from each of the five dormitories, and one composed of day students. It is expected that an even larger number of students will participate this year than last, when the total approximated 200.

The first sport on the intramural card is "touch football," which will begin late this week or early next week. The schedule will soon be completed and games will get under way immediately. Each team will play every other team once so that the schedule may be finished before the exams, immediately before the Thanksgiving recess.

Any team not reporting at the time scheduled for the game will automatically forfeit.

CICO, BULLET QUARTERBACK HAS BROKEN COLLAR BONE

Injury dealt a serious blow to the Gettysburg football squad, Saturday, when Johnny Cico suffered a broken collar bone in an intersquad game on the home field.

Cico, veteran quarterback on the Bullet team, was one of the strong points in Hen Bream's backfield. He has been an outstanding performer for the past several years. The injury sustained will probably keep him on the sidelines a major part of the season.

This stroke of fate cast a pall of gloom over the Bullet followers as they looked to the opener with Juniata next week, followed by Army and Mt. St. Mary's on the next two Saturdays. Below a cartoon of Cico in The Gettysburgian is the following: "As Cico goes, so goes the team".

stellar defense role, backing up the whole line as the Bears played a one-two-one defense to block the Rockne system. Costello and Pancoast also stood out in the defense play of the Bears. The Bears gained only eight yards through scrimmage as their offense had no real chance to function.

Villanova definitely asserted itself in the third quarter, the superior strength and skill of the Main Liners coming to the front. Nick Kotys, who starred last year in the Bears' defeat, hurled a 33-yard pass to Korchinski and then tore off eight more on a spinner. This spinner play of the Cats had the Bears guessing throughout the contest and always resulted in a decided gain. Raimo then scored his third touchdown as he galloped 20 yards through left tackle, the interference taking out the backfield.

Stopper, coming in to replace Kotys, flung a pass to Bell who, after receiving the 35-yard pass, eluded the remaining Ursinus backfield to carry the pig skin over for the next tally.

Another pass by Stopper resulted in the final score of the game, this time Nye doing the receiving. McAvoy had practically his whole first string out by this time, and although the substitutes put up a stubborn struggle, Villanova's list of spinners, reverses, and aerial attacks was too much for them.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Let's forget all about that little thing at the Main Line stadium last Saturday and talk about something pleasant—or will it be pleasant? Costello, in all probability won't start against Bucknell, although Porambo will be ready by that time. But now it's a question of whether the big fellow will be able to take Sieb Pancoast's place after the way Scy showed up against Villanova. There! It was brought back to our memories again and now I can hear that fog-horn across the stadium bellowing forth again.

F. & M. almost scored the biggest upset of the day last Saturday, but couldn't maintain their 7-0 advantage for the final quarter. The Rams tallied twice in this period and averted the catastrophe. Let's quote the "Sunday News"—"Sleepy Jim Crowley was scared out of his celebrated somnolence . . . as Franklin and Marshall, a bush league bunch from Lancaster, Pa., led our fighting Fordham, 7-0 . . ." Sponaugle was up to his old tricks as he tore through the Big City's line to block a punt and sprinted 20 yards for the Roses' touchdown.

Roy Johnson, Ursinus all-conference end of last season, viewed his first Bear struggle from the bleachers. The "Moose" brought his high school team east but fared as badly as the Bruins on the trip. "Bald Eagle" Schiele was also in the stands Saturday, probably to get a few ideas for his Stewart Junior High School line.

Franklin and Marshall College has added a new section to their stands at Williamson Field, in preparation for the coming season. The new seats are intended to provide for forty-eight hundred additional spectators, raising the seating capacity to seventy-three hundred people.

TWO VETERANS CONSTITUTE BACKBONE OF "U" HARRIERS

McLaughlin Is Again Captain in Neiman's Absence

Coach Stan Omwake's call for candidates for the '35 cross country team showed that, despite last year's poor showing, the sport still has its followers at Ursinus. Eight men responded, of whom two earned letters in previous seasons and five gained numerals for freshmen competition.

The absence of captain Neiman pushes the burden on McLaughlin, who led the harriers last year and Wynkoop, who earned his letter running under McLaughlin. Williams and Reynolds have had varsity experience and would be wearing the "U" but for the fact that the awards are not given to freshmen.

Those who gained their numerals on last year's yearling team, and who are reporting are: Ridgway, Wallick, and Robinson. Ken Clouse, although having no long-distance running experience, participated on his high school track team and is out to try the hill and dale sport.

Coach Omwake's drill this first week included long hikes in preparation for the track work to start Monday. In two weeks, Omwake expects to have his men on the road, getting ready for the first meet to be run against Lafayette, at Easton.

Inexperienced Booters Show
Promise in Daily Scrimmages

With only two weeks remaining for Coach Baker to round his squad of soccermen into shape for the first game with the West Chester Teachers on October 11, he faces a difficult task, having lost seven men through graduation from his varsity team of last year.

Although there were during the past week about twenty five candidates reporting for practice, there are only seven letter men from last year's squad around which to build his team. The veterans left are Captain Schaffer, Fenstermacher, Chestnut, Spangler, and Boyesen. Cubberly and Ernst are expected to fill two of the vacancies left open by graduation.

Doc Baker has been impressed by the form several candidates displayed during the past week, and promises many new faces in the starting line-up at West Chester. This team, though perhaps inexperienced, will by no means be a "push over", as they showed the necessary fight and punch at the Friday afternoon practice for a successful team.

'22—Miss Margaret F. Bookman and Rev. John M. Baer were married on June 29 in the First Lutheran Church of Carlisle, Pa. Rev. Baer is pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Manchester, N. H. Their address is 509 Beech St., Manchester, N. H.

HOCKEY TEAM WINS FIRST
TUSSLE, SATURDAY MORNING

Handicapped by a slippery field and but five veteran players, Coach Snell's hockeyites scored a 1-0 victory over the Buccaneers Saturday morning in the opening game of the season.

When only half of the opposing team showed up, the "U" lassies were forced to fill in vacant positions. The scrimmage revealed promising material to replace the veterans who graduated last June, Claflin and Rothenberger showing great promise.

The single goal was scored by Theresa Keyser in the first half after several unsuccessful tries to cage the ball. Although no tallies were registered in the second canto, there were flashes of fine passing, which enabled the Bears to keep the play in the Buccaneer's territory until the final whistle.

The lineup was as follows:

Three Ursinus Representatives
Join Schwenksville Art Class

Mrs. Josephine X. Sheeder, Dorothea Wieand '36, and Elizabeth McBride '36, have enrolled in an art class taught by Mr. Loeliger of Schwenksville, Pa., which meets every Thursday night to study painting and drawing. The three Ursinus representatives have all had considerable experience in work of this nature, Mrs. Sheeder being the director of the annual May Day pageant and instructor of pagentry. Last spring Miss McBride was author and co-director of the pageant, and Miss Wieand served as general manager.

A five-reel motion picture on "Heavenly Bodies" was shown before a large crowd of students last Wednesday evening in the Auditorium of the Science Building.

The picture was provided by the College as a supplement to the regular courses in astronomy. The motions and characteristics of heavenly bodies were vividly portrayed.

This picture was the first of many of its kind which will be shown throughout the year on scientific subjects.
